

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

The Canadian Association of Gastroenterology (CAG) and the Canadian Association for the Study of the Liver (CASL) are seeking applicants for the position of Editor-in-Chief (EIC) of the Canadian Journal of Gastroenterology, effective January 1st, 2010. It is anticipated that the successful candidate will enter an overlap period with the current EIC, from January 1st to March 31st 2010. The EIC will be appointed by the Boards of the CAG and the CASL upon recommendation of a Search and Selection Committee. The EIC will serve up to a 5-year, non-renewable term.

The EIC will be a well respected, recognized Canadian leader in either gastroenterology or hepatology. It is expected that the successful candidate will be an effective communicator as reflected by peer-publications, presentations at national and international conferences and previous experience as a journal reviewer/member of an editorial board. It is expected that the successful candidate will have administrative skills and a vision for the Journal, as well as a willingness to promote it.

The EIC will have control over the scientific and editorial content of the Journal. He/she will appoint Associate Editors and Editorial Board members with the approval of the Communications Committee of CAG and the CASL Governing Board.

The EIC and the Editorial Board will be responsible for maintaining the highest standard of the Journal, including selection of high quality articles and reviews; for developing long term plans for the Journal; and for preparing an annual report of the Journal. The EIC will report to the Chair of the Communications Committee of CAG and the CASL Governing Board.

An appropriate stipend will be paid to the EIC to provide reimbursement for appropriate time commitments and costs.

Full applications (including a current curriculum vitae, vision statement, and names of three referees) must be received in electronic format, by email to CAGOffice@cag-acg.org, no later than August 17th, 2009.
